Synopsis: Carla Nowak, a young high school gym and math teacher, reports for her first class at her new high school. What mainly distinguishes Carla from her new colleagues is her idealism. But a series of unsolved thefts sours the atmosphere among the teaching staff. When a Turkish student is accused and humiliatingly summoned before the principal, Carla decides to investigate. With the help of a hidden camera and to everyone's surprise, she exposes the thief: the inconspicuous staff secretary, Friederike Kuhn. But her revelation presents Carla with an unsolvable dilemma: Friederike Kuhn is the mother of her most talented pupil, Oskar Kuhn. For Carla, the forces she has unleashed slide steadily out of control. On the one hand, she is increasingly isolated from her colleagues. On the other hand, Carla has to face up to the psychological strain she has caused Oskar, as the other kids start calling him "son of a thief". The school administration has an uncomplicated solution for such cases: Oskar is to be transferred to another school. Oskar, unintimidated as his suspended mother, contacts the school newspaper, to publicize his mother's perspective which sparks a heated debate over truth and justice.

Workshop

Jasemin Seven Bilal Kasaoui

Yasmine Djidel

English

Kino 2

Description: The stories we tell and get told shape our culture – they define what we like and dislike, who we listen to, and how we think and act. Over the last years more and more populist narratives have influenced the debates around diversity, migration, and sustainability in Europe. But how do we engage people and rebalance the public discussion? By changing the narratives! A broad realisation for many of us has been that the standard approach of only arguing facts is not serving the progressive agenda anymore. Post-truth-, post-facts- or post-reality-politics have become focal concerns of public life and have a determinate role in how social organisations operate. Therefore, our workshop will focus on learning how to change people's hearts and minds, shifting their "underlying values and beliefs" regarding certain issues. You will get an insight into the narrative change approach and practice of how to use this powerful tool to raise awareness and gain support for policies and advocacy positions.

 Lena Wittenfeld
Etienne Höra  English  Wagenhalle

Description: In the year of the European elections, there is much attention to young people as voters. However, this should not be our only role in politics and policy: As experts and activists, we have unique perspectives on Europe's most pressing policy problems. Grassroots think tanks are self-organised spaces where young people are not only passive consumers and objects of policy, but where they can actively contribute to their ideas. Hence, grassroots think tanks offer room for the discussion, rethinking and envisioning of the future of Europe among fellow think tankers but also externally with experts, activists and policy-makers. As such, grassroots think tanks are non-partisan platforms for exchange among policy enthusiasts, environments for learning and skill development, and - ideally - act as agenda setters for political debates according to young people's priorities and concerns.

Description: Antiziganismus ist eine Form von Diskriminierung, die auf Vorurteilen und Stereotypen gegenüber Roma basiert. Doch warum ist es wichtig, sich damit auseinanderzusetzen? Dieser Workshop widmet sich genau dieser Frage. Wir werden gemeinsam die Definition von Antiziganismus erkunden und dabei betonen, dass diese Form der Diskriminierung nicht nur die Roma-Community betrifft, sondern auch Auswirkungen auf die Gesellschaft als Ganzes hat. Antiziganismus ist nicht nur für die Betroffenen gefährlich, sondern bedroht das soziale Gefüge insgesamt. Im Verlauf des Workshops werden wir die Mechanismen von Vorurteilen und deren Funktionsweise analysieren. Wir werfen einen Blick darauf, wie Denkmuster, die auf Vorurteilen basieren, den Antiziganismus konstruieren und fördern können. Es ist uns wichtig, nicht nur das Problem zu benennen, sondern auch Verständnis und Sensibilität zu schaffen, um gemeinsam Lösungsansätze zu entwickeln. Sei dabei, wenn wir Vorurteile demaskieren, ihre Auswirkungen beleuchten und zusammen eine Grundlage für einen respektvolleren Umgang miteinander schaffen. Der Workshop bietet Raum für offene Diskussionen, Fragen und gemeinsames Lernen. Gemeinsam können wir dazu beitragen, Vorurteile abzubauen und eine inklusivere Gesellschaft zu schaffen.

Description: The workshop will be about Team Building in the context of youth organisations. Team Building is an essential part of the EYP's events and activities, to the extent that it has also become part of the essence of the organisation itself. But what is Team Building? Why is Team Building done? What effects does Team Building have on member engagement and the sustainability of the organisation? How can it be implemented in your organisation? Through some interactive activities and experiences-sharing, the workshop will aim to answer these questions and inspire the participants of the workshop to have a more purposeful approach when planning and implementing some Team Building practices in their organisation.

Challenges for youth NGOs: working with volunteers vs paid staff

  Workshop
 Annelou Snippe
  English
  Kino 6

Description: A hands-on workshop where we'll dive into the nuts and bolts of blending volunteer and paid staff in organizations, especially when youth boards are involved. We will share knowledge about how different organizations set up their teams, share the floor for some real-talk on what works (and what doesn't) when volunteers and paid staff collaborate, and brainstorm ways to keep (volunteer) youth boards leading the charge without sidelining their input. Expect to swap stories on the perks and quirks of working with a volunteer-heavy team, and walk away with practical tips to make this dynamic work smoother in your own space. This session is perfect for anyone looking to get the best out of their mixed organisation, fostering a vibe where everyone feels valued and impactful, regardless of their role.
